STRIKE ON G. T. DECLARED

At 9.30 p. m. Monday, July, 18.

No Freight Service and Passenger Trains Late.

A strike of the conductors and trainmen of the Grand Trunk Railway system began at 9.30 Monday night. The total number of men affected by the strike is 3500 trainmen and conductors on the Grand Trunk between Portland, Maine, and Chicago, Ill., and 350 on the Central Vermont a subsidiary line. In addition 5000 men engaged in shop work will be temporarily laid off.

The strikers demand wages equal to those paid by other roads and the management of the G. T. offered them an increase of approximately 18 per cent with the further promise that they should be given the same standard rate of pay as the Canadian Pacific as soon as the Grand Trunk through its relation with the Grand Trunk Pacific is in a position to participate in the higher rates obtaining on traffic in the Northwest. This was not accepted and all freight service has been stopped. The passenger trains between Portland and Montreal are running, but are anywhere from 15 minutes to two hours or more behind schedule time. The trainmen are recruited from the ranks of the station hands and the shops.

Vice President Pittsburgh stated that as soon as the mail and passenger trains are running without friction the freight service will be resumed.

BISBEE-PACKARD.

The wedding of Miss Helen Estella Bisbee, of Bethel and Mr. Bertram E. Packard of Litchfield, took place on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. D. G. Lurvey, on Vernon street.

At 8.30 o'clock, Miss Beulah Edwards, an intimate friend of the bride, sang soft and sweet, "Rose of My Life," accompanied on the organ, by Miss Maude Moore of Newfield, Me., who taught for three years in the seminary with the bride. The last strains of the song were blended into the first of the wedding march and the bride and groom came down the stairs and entered the parlor unattended. The impressive double ring service was then performed by Mrs. Packard's pastor, Rev. C. L. Daughart of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Their wedding day was the 50th wedding anniversary of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Churchill of West Paris.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held and refreshments of halibut, ice cream and cake were served by Miss Beulah Plafsted, a girlhood friend of Mrs. Packard.

The house decorations were simple but effective. A corner window was prettily arranged as a bower of evergreen with white flowers intermingled and beneath this the couple were made man and wife. The fireplace was banked with evergreen and flowers and sweet peas were used throughout the double parlors. The dining room decorations were of hot house plants.

The bride's gown was a beautiful creation of white tulle and satin, made in one piece effect with overskirt and trimmed with rich silk applique, lace yoke and overcoat and chiffon and tulle admirably to her slender grace. Her bouquet was of lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. Packard is a man of commanding presence; he wore the conventional black.

The gifts were choice and varied, including many pieces of silver, cut glass, embroidery, pictures, china, etc.

The guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Packard of Litchfield, parents of the groom and Miss Maude Moore of Newfield, Me., Mrs. Churchill of West Paris, and Mr. and Mrs. Bisbee of Newry. The other guests were a very few intimate friends and relatives of the family.

Mrs. Packard is a graduate of Gould's Academy, '04 and the Curry School of Exposition, Boston, '04. She was for three years, instructor of algebra and literature at Parnassus Seminary, North Parnassus, Me., where she was held in the highest esteem. A young lady of unusually attractive personality, forgetful of self, but thoughtful of others and generous with her talents and time, she has a host of friends among both old and young, who wish her much happiness.

Mr. Packard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Packard of Litchfield, Me., and is a graduate of Bates College, Lewiston, 1890, also of the University of Maine Law School. He has been a teacher at Leavitt Institute and the past year was district superintendent of the schools of Camden and Thomaston and was this spring, selected for a term of two years. He is well known in the educational work of the State and is a man of sterling character.

Mr. and Mrs. Packard left their evening for Litchfield, where they will spend the next month at Mr. Packard's bachelor on Sand Pond. They will be at home at Camden, Maine, after October 1st.

ANDOVER STORE- KEEPER IN TROUBLE.

Gets a Fine of $100 and Costs, Saturday.

Arrested by Deputy Elliott, Partner Escapes.

Tony Negason, one of two men who has been running a store at Andover recently was before the Municipal court Saturday morning on a charge of selling liquor. He was found guilty and given a fine of $100 and costs. Sheriff Elliott was the State's witness in the case and gave the following evidence against the respondent.

He went to the store which was in the Ed. Pratt building, Friday morning. Here he found a fellow in charge whom they called Jimmy. In the front of the building was a fruit and confectionery store while in the rear was a beer shop. In the back room, he found a quart bottle of whiskey and two quarts of wine, the bottles being in a barrel on top of which were two beer cases. While he was in the back room the fellow in charge cleared out. He took his auto and started after him. When he had gone down the road a short distance he saw him riding in a team with Negason, when they saw him coming, Jimmy jumped from the team and took to the woods while Negason whipped his horse into a run in an effort to escape. Elliott ordered him to stop and when he failed to do so he fired over his head and the man then stopped. Had a little fruit in the team and some beer. Would not admit that he was proprietor of the store but he had a key to the store and also had a trunk there with money in it. There was no license displayed to show that they had a right to sell beer and there were 2 paste board jackets such as come on whiskey bottles in the back room.

Recorder Stevenson acted as counsel for the respondent and with the aid of John Orino, an interpreter, Negason gave the following evidence. He had been there a little over two months. The store belonged to Jimmy and he received $3.00 a week and his board for working for him. Did not know there was any whiskey in the store and had never seen any there. Had seen one bottle of wine there at one time, but it wasn't his and he did not know who it did belong to. He was out on the team most of the time and Jimmy tended the store. Did not peddle beer and only took it with him when he had an order for it. Bought the beer of Murdoch & Freeman, sometimes it was brought in his auto and sometimes in Jimmy's auto. Horse and team also belonged to Jimmy. Asked by the Judge why he tried to run away from the officer and he said his horse was afraid of the auto and he stopped him as soon as he could. Denied hitting the horse with the whip.

In rebuttal, Deputy Elliott testified that Negason hit the horse with the whip several times, so hard that it left ridges on his side. That he started the auto right in front of the horse and heared nothing about it. He also testified that the owner of the building let the store to Negason.

Judge Stearns thought as there was a discrepancy in some of the testimony there was reason to believe that there might be in other parts of the respondent's evidence. There was no question in his mind but what it was a partnership affair and one party was as guilty as the other. The quantity of liquor found, was not in itself, very convicting evidence, but the conditions that surrounded the finding were such that there could be little question of the respondent's guilt. He should and him guilty and impose a fine of $100 and costs of 50 days in Jail.

By keeping to the woods throughout the day Friday, Jimmy managed to elude the officers, but they are on the lookout for him and it is expected that he will appear in court soon.

USED BOTH ALIKE.

James Antonea Also Gets $100 and Costs.

Taken by the Officers at Smithville.

James Antonea, who was associated with Tony Negason in the store at Andover and who escaped the officers Friday, when Negason was arrested, was arrested by Deputy Elliott at Smithville, Monday evening and had his hearing in the Municipal court Tuesday morning. The State's evidence in the case was nearly the same as the evidence given against Negason, reported elsewhere in this paper. Deputy Elliott stating that he had been after Antonea nearly all day Monday and at last succeeded in locating him at Smithville between ten thirty and eleven o'clock Monday night.

Attorney Hutchins appeared for Antonea and cross examined Deputy Elliott about the property at Andover, in whose name the goods were bought, who the team belonged to and so forth. To most of these questions Deputy Elliott was unable to give definite answers as he had no way of knowing to who the property belonged.

Antonea, through an interpreter, testified that Negason ran the store and that he worked for him, for $10 a week. That Negason bought all the goods, owned the team and run the place. That he did not know anything about the liquor, never used liquor himself and had not been arrested in his life. That he ran away from the officers because he was ashamed to have his friends see him get arrested. That he was not a partner of Negason and never bought any of the goods with him and never sold any whiskey.

In making his argument, Attorney Hutchins stated that he knew the horse belonged to Negason, for he had come to his office and had a mortgage made out when the purchase was made and Negason's name was the one given as owner of the horse. Deputy Elliott then stated that he knew that Antonea purchased the horses. Attorney Hutchins placed his argument on the basis that the State had failed to prove that Antonea was a part owner of the place or that he had sold any liquor.

Judge Stearns stated that the evidence of the two respondents was very similar, each claiming that the other was the owner. That the amount of liquor was not large, but the fact that intoxicating liquor was found in a place of that sort was quite convicting evidence that it was there for sale. The fact that Antonea ran away so soon after the arrival of the officer, looked very much as if he knew the liquor was there and was afraid the officer would find it. He still felt that the parties were equally guilty and he should impose a fine of $100 and costs. Antonea has paid his fine but Negason is serving his time in jail. It is also probable that the respondents will be held on the charge of selling beer without an U. S. license.

The committee succeeded but it seems a legislative act was obtained to erect a toll bridge.

HAMMER VS. HAMMER.

Worse and More of it Friday.

All Day's Recital of Domestic Troubles.

Evidently one recital of family affairs in court did not satisfy Mrs. Martin Hammer, and again on Friday, last week, she brought suit against her husband and the hearing occupied nearly the entire day, Friday, during which time the past history of both Mr. and Mrs. Hammer was pretty well raked over. The suit in this instance was brought by Mrs. Hammer to force her husband, from whom she has separated to pay a certain amount towards her support.

Five or six witnesses were present to testify on each side, and the opposing attorneys, who by the way, do not care to have their names brought into the affair, were allowed considerable latitude by the Judge in examining the witnesses. The general opinion is that Mr. and Mrs. Hammer are pretty well matched, and true to their name they do hammer each other to quite an extent. One thing is sure, there was nothing very elevating about the hearing and most women would prefer to support themselves rather than have the things revealed in court that were testified to concerning Mrs. Hammer.

The Judge has taken the matter under consideration and has not as yet rendered any decision.

FIRE AT WEST BETHEL.

West Bethel had a deplorable fire July 13th, a little after midnight when the house of J. P. Swett burned to the ground. The family had barely time to save themselves and a very little clothing. Mr. Swett saved his cow and only a day or two before had moved his chickens to a place removed from the house. Beside the contents of the house they lost fifty dollars in money and some valuable violin stock. We understand there was only $500 insurance.

The supposed cause was a defective chimney. The fire had smoldered for some time before it was discovered that the men were powerless to do anything but responded generously to a subscription paper started during the fire by C. P. Denison. About 465 was subscribed then and since, most of which has been paid in. We understand $300 also was raised for Mr. Swett among his fellow employees at Springer's Mill. The family were taken in that night by Mrs. M. O'Reilly and since have been at the home of Mr. Daniel. The church bell was rung by Mr. Elmer Allen to give the alarm and much credit is deserved by Miss Ethel Allen who kept it ringing for half an hour before it was known who was at the rope.

RECEPTION AT BETHEL.

One of the pleasantest social affairs in the history of Brown Relief Corps occurred Friday evening, July 15, when Mrs. F. E. Farrington gave a reception in honor of the president of the Corps, Mrs. Carrie Atwood, to whom it was a complete surprise.

The rooms were decorated with flowers and potted plants, and filled with an air of hospitality that will long be remembered by those present.

In appreciation of faithful work since she assumed the office of president, and as an assurance of the loyal support of the members of the Corps in the future, Mrs. E. E. Farrington gave a few well chosen remarks, presented Mrs. Atwood with a beautiful bouquet.

The guests were then favored with the following program interspersed with selections on the graphophone.

Mrs. W. H. Young,
Mrs. Banghart, Miss Chase,
Mrs. Cushman,
Miss Margaret and Blanche Herrick, Mrs. Ralph Chapman,
Blanche Herrick,
Mrs. Chas. Davis,
Margaret Herrick,
Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, and thoroughly enjoyed by the thirty-two present.

The evening closed by all gathering around the piano and singing the old but ever new American, after which all departed for their homes feeling that they knew each other better for having spent a beautiful evening in the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Farrington.

It is a fact that insurance Companies throughout the country will give you a lower rate where you use Carpenter, Marton Roofing than where you use shingles, tin or iron. Besides it is less expensive and more durable. Hastings Bros. are exclusive agents and sell this roofing under a guarantee that it will last for years.

MARRIAGES.

Married in Bethel, July 15th, by Rev. W. C. Carle, Mr. Frank J. Wheeler and Miss Miss E. Hubbard, both of Bethel.

EDWARD GASTONGUAY WAS DROWNED

At Roxbury Pond Sunday Morning.

Edward Gastonguay of Rumford, a man about 35 years of age was drowned at Silver Lake, more generally known as Roxbury Pond, while out fishing Sunday morning. It is reported that he was in a boat with two other men and was fishing. He got a strike and as the fish took the bait he stood up in the boat, it tipped a little and he lost his balance and fell in and his companions were unable to get him out.

Gastonguay went to Roxbury Saturday night with a party of fifteen friends in a kayak. It is also reported that an important part of the equipment of the party was a half barrel of beer and it seems to be the general opinion that the condition of the men in the boat was such that the only safe place for them would have been to have remained on land.

Gastonguay was a meat cutter by trade, but had been employed of late as a helper for masons. He leaves a widow and six children some of whom are small.

Up to two o'clock Tuesday, when this article was written, the body had not been recovered but the search was still going on.

ST. ROCOCO DAY, AUGUST 18th.

The annual celebration of St. Rococo Day has come to be an event looked forward to with interest by the citizens of Oxford County and the adjacent counties. The celebration will take place this year on Thursday, August 18th at the Androscoggin Valley Agricultural Society's grounds at Canteen, the same as in previous years. Concerning the celebration Mayor Lavergne, by whose efforts the affair has been successfully conducted for the past five years, has sent out the following announcement: "The 8th annual celebration in honor of St. Rococo will be held at Canteen, Thursday, August 18th, 1898."

LOCAL HISTORY.

"We saw this week a beautiful draught of a bridge for the river at Barker's ferry, in the office of Mr. Thomas Hall, architect. We see no reason why such a bridge could not stand longer than its proprietors, who ever they may be. The history of the Androscoggin for eighty years, plainly points out the fact that a permanent bridge can be built at a comparatively moderate expense, and prove a good investment. The town voted, with but one dissenting vote, to accept the charter granted by the Legislature to take stock in the bridge."

Looking now, fifty years later, at the situation then, it seems Dr. True's statements, or belief, as stated in the foregoing, facts have not justified his conclusion. The investment has certainly proved a bad one, but had the bridge been continued a full bridge would be far different from what it really is—a 120,000 dollar, an old bridge out of repair, which must have quite a sum expended upon it in the near future, day light being very near in the roof, with other signs of decay that are apparent to the careful beholder.

The town records confirm the statement that in 1835 a vote was passed to petition the State Legislature for authority to take stock in the Bethel Bridge Company.

In 1841 it was voted to accept the act of the Legislature authorizing the town to take stock in the Androscoggin Bridge Company at Barker's Ferry.

These votes, it seems, were only preliminary—a sort of stretch contract—the real action coming later, the voters of the West Parish being driven to do this as a matter of self preservation by what the voters and progressive element of the population of the West parish, aided by the Locke's Mills bridge, proposed to build a bridge over the river.

HEART THRILLING GEMS.

TWO BOOKS.

If all the kind words you ever have said Were printed and bound in a book, With every laugh and every smile And every affectionate look,

And all your unselfish and generous deeds
And all your duties well done, And all disappointments you've cheerfully borne—Yes, every single one—

And then if another book were to be made, Containing your frowns and your scowls, Containing your cross words and angry retorts,
Your fretful and querulous growls,

Each duty neglected or carelessly done Each pettish and petulant tear—Then if these two books were stood up side by side,
Which one would be larger, my dear?
—Edith Holt.

INSTEAD.

When I am dead, forget me, dear, For I shall never know, Though o'er my cold and lifeless hands Your burning tears should flow.
I'll cancel with my living voice The debt you'll owe the dead—Give me the love you'd show me then, But give it now instead.

And bring no wreaths to deck my grave,
For I shall never care Though all the flowers I loved the most Should grow and wither there.
I'll sell my chance of all the flowers You'll lavish when I'm dead For one small bunch of violets now, So give me that instead.

What saints we are when we are gone!
But what's the use to me Of praises written on my tomb For other eyes to see?
One little simple word of praise By lips we worship said Is worth a hundred epitaphs—Dear, say it now instead.

And faults that now are hard to bear Oblivion then shall win.
Our sins are soon forgiven us When we no more can sin.
But any bitter thought of me—Keep it for when I'm dead; I shall not know, I shall not care, Forgive me now instead.
—Windsor Magazine.

THE END.

The course of the weariest river Ends in the great gray sea;
The acorn, forever and ever, Strives upward to the tree;
The rainbow, the sky adorning, Shines promise through the storm;
The glimmer of coming morning Through midnight gloom will form.
By time all knots are riven, Complex although they be,
And peace will at last be given,
Dear, both to you and me.

Then, though the path may be dreary, Look onward to the goal; Though the heart and the head be weary, Let faith inspire the soul; Seek the right, though the wrong be tempting;
Speak truth at any cost; Vain is all weak exempting When once the goal is lost.
Let strong hand and keen eye be ready For plain and ambushes foes; Thought earnest and fancy steady Bear best unto the close.

The heavy clouds may be raining But with evening comes the light; Through the dark are low winds complaining.
Yet the sunrise glides the height;
And Love has his hidden treasure For the patient and the pure;
And time gives his fullest measure To the workers who endure;
And the word that no law has spoken Has the future pledge supplied; For we know that when we "awaken" We shall be "satisfied."

COUNT THE DAYS OF SUMMER.

Count the days of sunshine, mark them on the pane Where you're sure to see them through the mist and rain; They are sent to brighten coming dreary days, Count the days of sunshine, all the hours with pain.

Think about the sunshine, life is glad-der far Than we sometimes deem it; through the gloom a star Gives chance to guide us when a song we raise.

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF MISERY

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. FORD, 2207 W. Franklin St., Baltimore, Md.
The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.
If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege-
If you would like special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. She has guided thousands to health, free of charge.

God's within the future and the cloudy days.

Talk about the sunshine with a content;
Thank the gracious Giver for each blessing sent;
Tell of loving kindness; hush in hush ways.
Oft, e'en this side Heaven, lead to happier days.

Sing about the sunshine, it will soften pain, Lift your courage higher, bid you hope again;
Doubt is for a moment, shadows flee away;
With the dawn of morning, Joy resumes her way.

JUST BE GLAD,
O heart of mine, we shouldn't worry so, What we've missed of calm we couldn't have, you know!
What we've met of stormy pain,
And of sorrow's driving rain We can better meet again, if it blow!

We have erred in that dark hour we have known,
When our tears fell with the shower all alone!
Were not shame and shadow blest As the gracious Master meant!
Let us temper our content with His own.

For we know not every morrow can be sad;
So, forgetting all the sorrow we have had,
Let us fold away our fears,
And put off foolish tears, And through all the coming years, just be glad.

A SUSTAINING DIET.
These are the sustaining days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the numbers as if the Day of Fire had descended. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly maintained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of food's benefits is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and laxative, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

pecially when you work. Enthus-

THE COST OF PACKAGES.

In the widespread discussion of the increased cost of living some attention is being paid to the great change which has come about in the manner of supplying most of the necessities in common use. Comparatively few people nowadays ever buy or even see a whole salt codfish, as in the old days. Such saltfish as is used in the family comes from the grocery store, or market, boneless and in packages which have added materially to the cost. Dried beef and bacon in the same way, instead of being sliced at the market in quantities to suit purchasers. Crackers, biscuits, raisins, oatmeal, and so on and on, through all the long list, are bought in bulk by a large proportion of consumers, and at an increase in the cost, because the form is slightly more convenient. In fact, it is obvious that the cost of the package, showy labels and other accessories, is the result of a decided preference on the part of the consumer, but it makes a material increase in the course of a year in the living expenses of the average family.

TWELVE MILLION TELEPHONES.

It is reported that there are now in this country 12,000,000 telephones, or one for every 200 homes in the country. This does not mean that one-half the residents in the country contain an instrument, since many business houses have a large number, but the figures are instructive and illuminating. Practically everybody who is anybody in the cities or towns and villages has a telephone, while those in the country districts are legion. The astonishing fact is that each of these phones is used on an average of six times a day. The total number of calls in a year runs up into the billions and is not appreciable by the human mind.

This is the more remarkable when we consider that forty years ago there was no such thing as a telephone, and even twenty years ago the instrument was not common outside of business houses.
Now they have become one of the necessities of life. We use the telephone not only in business, but for social purposes, or shopping and marketing and for almost every purpose where we need to use the mails or do without. If by any catastrophe the telephone of the country should be silenced forever it would amount to a calamity of the first magnitude. We have adjusted our lives to the telephone and could not do without it unless we made new and undescribable arrangements.

BASE BALL.

Dixfield 10, Rumford 2.

A team of Rumford players were defeated at Dixfield Saturday afternoon by the above score, but the contest was far from being as one-sided as the score would indicate, and it was not until the eighth inning that Dixfield secured a safe lead. The seven runs scored in the eighth inning by Dixfield, were directly due to the wildness of the Rum-ford pitcher and the generosity of the Dixfield umpire, and to very brilliant and superior playing of the Dixfield team.

Several of the men that were expected to go with the Rumford team, gave up going at the last moment and Sutton sprained his ankle and is on crutches, so it left the team without the services of an experienced pitcher, however, nine men were gotten together and put up a very creditable exhibition, barring the eighth inning, which was a factor.

Flah, a young player from Mexico high school, pitched for Rumford and did fine work until he lost his control.
Although some of the Dixfield players announced early in the contest that he was awful easy and told of what they could do to him before the game was over, it was a noticeable fact that they scored just six hits during the game.

The two players that made the most of this talk failed to get a hit during the contest. One of these threw his bat down in much disgust in the eighth inning when he was obliged to go to first because he was hit by a pitched ball. He wanted to knock the cover off the ball, but as this was the only time during the game that he reached first, the writer is much inclined to think he was very fortunate and that this was the only method by which he could get his base.

Three West Paris players were on the Dixfield team and were largely responsible for its victory. They were Richardson, pitcher; Brown, catcher and Dunham, center field.

Richardson pitched a nice game, although his control was not quite as good as usual. He allowed only five hits, struck out 13 men and passed three. His support was poor and had he been obliged to have depended on that for a victory his chances would have been small. The team behind him made five errors and was credited with only seven assists.

Dixfield scored the first run in the second, thanks to the umpire. Holt hit and was credited with a three base hit although most left fielders would have got the ball for a put out. The next batter went out at first and the following hit to the pitcher, Holt making a dash for the plate. He arrived about the same time as the ball did, but the umpire ruled in favor of the plate and Holt's slide was blocked off about six inches from the plate and he never reached the plate. He was called safe.

The decision was pretty rank but the Rumford team did not put up much of a kick. The Dixfield players admitted that Holt did not reach the plate, but smoothed it over by saying that Probably this was true, but most umpires make some effort to get where they can see a close play at the plate and Mr. Wallis never moved from his position back of the pitcher.

A hit, a stolen base and an error gave Dixfield one more run in the fourth and a two base hit and an error gave them their third run in the sixth.
A two base hit and two errors allowed Gilpatrick to score Rumford's first run in the eighth. In the last half of the eighth with one man out and two on base, Holt lost his control and passed three batters and hit another, forcing in two runs. Burgess went in to pitch with the bases still full. The first man that faced him hit in him and he threw in the plate, the throw was fast and a trifle wild, Sheehan failed to block it and the ball went over a stone wall back of the catcher. Thinking that the ground rules allowed only one base on such a play Sheehan made no effort to recover the ball, four more runners scored and the umpire allowed the scores, seeing as how they were Dixfield men that were doing the scoring. Had it been the other way we fear things would have been different.

Catchers are not usually expected to climb stone walls.

The return game will be played here at Rumford, Saturday afternoon, July 23th. Rumford will be represented by a stronger team and will endeavor to even things up with their Dixfield opponents.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Rumford Falls Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it is seen correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all the troubles caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Bethel and Rumford Falls people testify to permanent cures.

John M. Harlow, Rumford Falls, Me. says: I am endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills, as I believe they are the best kidney remedy on the market. About two years I was suffering from an attack of kidney trouble. There were severe pains in my back, the kidney secretions were very unnatural and I was gradually losing flesh. I knew of other persons who had been cured of kidney complaint by Doan's Kidney Pills and decided to give them a trial. I prepared a box. In less than two months I was cured and I have had no recurrence of my former trouble since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents.

RUMFORD.

Rev. G. B. Hannaford is visiting relatives in Boston and vicinity.

Ralph Curtis and wife will go soon to Lewiston to make their home.

Jacob Isaacson and daughter have returned to Livermore after spending a few days with relatives in this village.

The studio formerly occupied by H. W. Rich will be used as headquarters for the Republicans during the coming campaign.

Mrs. P. E. McCarty gave a lawn party recently in honor of Mrs. Solomon Steinfeld of Berlin, N. H., who has been visiting relatives and friends in town.

Brown tall moths have appeared in Rumford in quite large quantities. It would be well to see that they are exterminated before they deposit their eggs.

The Assessors are advertising for proposals for the collection of garbage within the corporation limits, according to the vote of the recent corporation meeting.

Ozalluc Temple, Pythian Sisters, will entertain the sisters from the Hanover Temple at their regular meeting this Thursday evening. There will be a banquet followed by degree work.

Fred Roy was found guilty of the charge of a single sale of cider in the Municipal court Wednesday morning. He was given a fine of $50 and costs and appealed. J. B. Stevenson appeared as counsel for Roy.

Miss Pearl Lucas is the guest of relatives and friends at South Paris and Norway. Mrs. Lucas is also expected to reach those villages from Boston, where she has been for several weeks, during the present week.

H. W. Rich has moved from his studio at number 55 Congress to the studio which he recently purchased of Karl Nyberg over the Cote Pharmacy. Having a large amount of work on hand Mr. Rich is employing two assistants, C. W. Adams and Bert Braun.

The Sale season has hit Rumford and mack down sales are the order of the day. Of all these sales, one stands out pre-eminent, the one at the George Elias Department Store which started Wednesday. Be sure and visit this and see the genuine bargains which Mr. Elias is offering.

The marriage of Henry Brosseau, clerk at the Cote Pharmacy, took place at Waterville Tuesday of last week. The bride was Miss Eva Carey of that city and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Rouzeau of the St. Jean de Baptiste church of Rumford. After an extended wedding tour the couple will come to Rumford to make their home.

Another hearing because of threats made by one person against another was held in the Municipal court Wednesday morning. The parties in this case were Harry Harrisburg and Allen R. Mason. The trouble arose over a boundary line between the land of the two parties, Harrisburg claiming that Mason had a potato patch on his land and that during some of the arguments they had had over the affair Mason had threatened to shoot him or any other Jew that stepped foot on his land. He said that Mason was a dangerous man and that he and nearly all the people in that neighborhood were afraid of him. Mason's story was that he never threatened to shoot Harrisburg, said he didn't think there would be any need of his using a gun to get a man like Harrisburg off his property. Said he had called Harrisburg a liar and told him if he set foot on that land until the lines were run and it was known what was right he would throw him off. The plaintiff had one other witness, John Richards, for the defense, Mr. Preston Ansell and Mrs. Mason also testified. Judge Stearns advised the parties to have their dispute settled by the courts or by disinterested parties and not to use any violence or make any threats. With this warning he discharged the respondent.

Three Polanders were in court Tuesday morning for trespassing on the land of Rufus J. Virgin. Mr. Virgin has been greatly annoyed by people going into his fields after berries and trampling down the grass. Although he has warned them repeatedly they have been very independent about the matter and some have refused to get out of the field or if they did go out would return again as soon as he left the place. He therefore notified the officers and they arrested these three men Tuesday morning. At the time the men were arrested there were a large number of women and children in the field. Mr. Virgin was unable to swear that either of these three men had been previously warned to keep off his land and as this is required by the law before parties can be convicted of trespass the men were discharged. But they were given to understand that any further complaint would mean trouble for them. Mr. Virgin did not wish to make them any trouble but he does want it understood that people must keep out of the grass. In making the arrest, one of the men was allowed to go into his house to see his wife, once in the house he refused to come out and cling to his small children for protection making it hard for the officers to get at him without injuring the children. It was necessary to handcuff him, use the twisters, and drag him down a flight of stairs before he gave up and accompanied the officers.

He came to a field where there were some people picking berries and noticed the fox watching them. When he had gotten within a short distance of the fox his dog circled and around in front of the fox, as soon as the animal saw the dog he turned to make a jump coming directly towards Mr. St. Pierre, whom he had not noticed. Mr. St. Pierre had a whip with him and struck the fox over the head with sufficient force to stun it for a short time. He secured a box at a nearby house and brought the animal home. THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Your Friend.

You may not know him when your sky is bright;
There are so many faces sweet and bland, Reflecting Fortune's smiles as dew-drops mirror light, Shining around your way on every hand,
You may not know him by his words of praise;
There are so many lips to praise success, And formal flatteries bestow life's troubling ways, Like fallen leaves the autumn wilderness,
And you may scale the windy heights of fame,
And gather wreaths and honors without end,
And yet, among the pleasant crowds who name your name, You may not know undoubtedly, your friend.
But, over should your summer day be dark And storms descend upon your stranded bark,
Just as you deem yourself, with fear, alone,
Your true friend's voice shall hail you through the dark.

Patience is the guardian of faith, the preserver of peace, the cherisher of love, the teacher of humanity. Patience governs the flesh, strengthens the spirit sweetens the temper, extinguishes envy, subdues pride; she bridges the tongue, restrains the hand, tramples upon temptations, endures persecutions.
Patience is the courage of virtue, enabling us to lessen pain of mind or body; it does not so much add to the number of our joys as it tends to diminish the number of our sufferings.
Labor is still, and ever will be, the inevitable price set upon everything which is valuable.

Living at Our Best.

"We have careful thoughts for the stranger
And smiles for the sometime guest;
But oft for 'our own' the bitter tone, Though we love 'our own' the best."
Alas! that those lines should be so sadly true. How many of us greet the stranger, or at the most the "sometime guest," with our kindest words, our cheeriest smile, and are very careful of their comfort! But how about the dear ones, who stand side by side with us in the battle of life! They need our best, but do we give it? Do we ever think how easy it is to spoil a day, or may be a life, through our thought-lessness? Let us not save a frowning face and peevish temper for our own few walls when nobody is in them but home folks. We love our own the best, they know it, but they like to be treated as though we loved them best; and when we fail in this we are not living at our best.

The Inner Light.

A famous lady who once reigned in Paris society, was so plain when she was a girl that her mother one day and after gazing at her for a long time with a distressed expression, "My poor child, I fear it will be very hard for you to win love in this world, indeed even to make friends!"

It was from that hour that the success of this woman, known to the world to time, do I recount, dated. For a little time she took the matter sadly to heart. Then, however, she sweetly and calmly, she began to be kind-kind to the poorer children of her native village, to the servants of her household, and the birds that hopped about the garden walks. Nothing so distressed her as not to be able to render a service.

As the years wore on her good will toward every one made her the idol of the great city which was eventually her home. Although her complexion was ruddy, her gray eyes small and sunken, yet she held in devotion to her some of the most noted men of her time. Her lifelong usefulness and interest in others made her, it is said, irresistible, and young and old forgot the plainness of her features in the loveliness of her life.

About the middle of the eighteenth century a lighthouse, called Dunston Pillar, was built on Lincoln Heath to guide travelers over a trackless barren waste, a veritable desert almost in the heart of England. But now it stands in the midst of fertile region. No barren heath has been visible ever from its top for more than a generation. Superphosphate of lime has effected this magic transformation.
Macy's barren, useless life has been made fruitful by the inspiration of a high ideal. Improvement hardly less radical is possible even in the heart of lives. Apply the superphosphate of life purpose and your useless life will become like a rose. Beauty in dress is a good thing, but it is a poor thing, it is a lower beauty, for which, beauty should not be sacrificed. They have done too much who give it their best thought, their best time, or all their money; who for it neglect the culture of the mind and heart, or the claims of others on their service, who care more for dress than for their characters who are troubled more by unfashionable garments than by a neglected duty.

At a Bethel town meeting held June 8, 1848, the town treasurer was authorized to obtain money by loan or other wise to be expended in building the bridge at Barker's Ferry, also to authorize the treasurer to dispose of town scrip or bonds in such quantity and at such rate of interest as he might deem best.

At a meeting held in October it was voted to raise an additional sum of $5 to be loaned for the bridge.

As a item in the Oxford Democrat of February 19, 1869, reads as follows:
"The bridge at Barker's Ferry is completed and ready for use." Another item in the Democrat, dated March 19, 1869, is as follows:
"At the annual meeting of the stock holders of the Bethel and Hancock Bridge Company it was voted to make the bridge free till June 1st, after which to collect toll."

Take the bridge near Bethel Hill that was carried off to the winter of 1842, the one at Hancock Island was soon destined to destruction leaving hindered and appearing circumstances and consequently on farms of over seasons and other sighted associates of the scheme.
Between Locke's and Walker's Mills there was, fifty years ago, or at the time these two places struck lands against Bethel Hill relative to the New York Island bridge matter quite a silly but today Walker's Mills is a dead place.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The Aroostook Lumber Company is building a large starch factory in the yard of the company on the west side of the Presque Isle stream in close proximity to the electric railroad at Presque Isle. The concrete foundations are being built and work will progress rapidly to get ready for the fall business. The factory will have a capacity of 1,000 barrels a day.
The Bath Iron Works has been awarded the contract for a twin screw steel passenger steamer for the Bar Harbor service of the Maine Central Railroad. The steamer will be the largest and fastest of the Maine Central fleet and will be ready for service in May 1917. Work on the steamer will be started immediately.
Preliminary surveys have commenced for an extension of Aroostook's first electric railroad through the towns of Woodland and Parham as far as Madawaska lake, a distance of about 19 miles. If the road is built thru this region, it will tap one of the most fertile and productive sections of the country, as it not only includes the towns mentioned, but a portion of New Brunswick. It is understood that the grades are very light and that the cost of construction would be comparatively small.
E. W. Haggitt, the rural free delivery carrier for the Bath route No. 1, who recently began using an automobile in making his rounds, covers the 27 mile route in about half the time it used to take him with a horse. The route has grown from 60 to 130 boxes and the amount of collections and deliveries has doubled. William Oliver of the Phippsburg Small Post stage route is considering the purchase of an automobile for his route of 2 miles including five postoffices and 31 collection boxes.
The first disjunctive stamp for the postal savings bank system has been approved by Postmaster General Hitchcock. It is a very unpretentious looking emblem, resembling an ordinary 2-cent stamp, except that it has no portrait upon it and will be used exclusively on the official mail in conducting the postal savings system. The first order for 200,000 of these stamps has been given. The money value of two cents each is placed upon the stamp in order that an account may be kept of the expense attending the administration of the postal savings bank. Until the system is installed the stamps will be used exclusively on the official mail of the board of trustees.

The will of the late Chief Justice Melville W. Parker of the United States Supreme Court, directs that the property be held in trust until the death of the last of his children, the net revenues being paid them or their heirs as the trustees shall see fit. These provisions were made known yesterday when two petitions were filed in the Probate court. He died possessed of property valued at $250,000, while his wife, Mary K. Parker, who died in 1894, left an estate valued at $115,000. His net estate on the will was set for Sept. 28. The value of the personal estate of the late Chief Justice was placed at $150,000, and the real estate at $250,000.

THOSE PIES OF BOYHOOD.
How delicious were the pies of boyhood. No pies now ever taste as good, what's changed the pie? No, it's you. You've lost the strong, healthy element, the vigorous fiber, the active alchemy, the regular bowels of boyhood. Your digestion is poor and you blame the food. What's needed? A complete lining by Electric Bitters of all organs of digestion—Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bowels—Try them. They'll restore your boyhood appetite and appreciation of food and satisfy your body with new health, strength and vigor. Get it. Chas. Fernald of Rumford Falls, Nathan Reynolds of Canton, H. J. Reynolds of Biddeford, C. A. Gardner of Dixfield.
